

Golda Meir Castigates Austrian Plan

PREMIER GOLDA MEIR

By United Press International
Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir said today decisions such as the Austrian government's weekend promise to Arab guerrillas to close a way station for emigrating Soviet Jews amounted to "casting a vote for war."

"Any country which... encourages Palestinians to believe that they can accomplish their goals through the elimination or erosion of Israel is casting a vote for war and not for peace," Mrs. Meir told a 17-nation Council of Europe meeting in Strasbourg, France. She spoke three days after Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky promised Palestinian guerrillas holding hostages in Vienna that his government would close its Jewish transit camp at Schoenau Castle, a way station for Soviet Jewish emigrants traveling to Israel. The guerrillas released the hostages in return for Kreisky's promise and fled to Libya. Mrs. Meir is flying to Vienna tonight to appeal personally to Kreisky to retract his promise. In Vienna, Kreisky said today Austria will provide armed protection for the camp, the principal transit facility in Austria for Soviet Jews which has processed an estimated 70,000 emigrants since 1971, so as long as it operates—but that he wants the camp closed quickly.

Soviet Union sends supersonic bombers to Iraq and officials believe power balance could be affected in Persian Gulf area. Story on Page 16.

"We made a decision that was long overdue, to close Schoenau as an asylum for Soviet Jews," the chancellor told the Viennese newspaper Kurier. "If we had not done this soon, there would have been a major (Arab-Israeli) battle in Schoenau in the near future. The castle was endangered to a high degree." Despite Austria's decision to close Schoenau, the Israeli government's Jewish Agency said 150 immigrants arrived by train Sunday at the facility. Guards at the castle, a 30-minute drive from Vienna, said they had received no new instructions.

The commandos, armed with submachine guns and grenades, then released their hostages—three Russian Jews and an Austrian customs agent—and flew in a light plane to Tripoli, Libya.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, in a speech in Strasbourg, France, called on the Austrian government to reverse the decision and said "those who accept the conditions of terrorists can only encourage more criminal acts."

In Beirut, the Arab newspaper As Safa said, "For the first time an act of piracy has achieved a precise and concrete result." Al Moharrer called the hijacking "the most painful commando blow against Israel."

In Tel Aviv, Austrian Ambassador Johann Nestor circulated the statement by Kreisky pledging "refuge for everybody who sees himself persecuted and who wished to go by way of Austria to another country which is willing to receive him."

The drama began early Friday when a Moscow-to-Vienna train carrying Russian Jews rolled across the Czechoslovak border into the Austrian town of Marchegg.

The two Arabs suddenly jumped up and ran forward into a sleeping car carrying the Jews, pulled pistols and submachine guns from beneath their jackets and demanded a car to take them to Vienna's international airport.

The guerrillas grabbed an Austrian customs officer and three Jews—an elderly couple and a young man—and drove in a small delivery truck to the airport.

Agnew Tells GOP Officials

Feels Career Destroyed

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has said privately that he believes his political career has been destroyed. But he has come out swinging publicly at his accusers, determined to prove his innocence.

Aides said Agnew told a private weekend meeting of California Republican officials that even if he is exonerated of allegations of corruption, his political future has been destroyed.

Agnew spoke to the Republican officials Saturday after dramatically declaring war on his accusers in a nationally televised speech to a Republican women's convention in Los Angeles.

In that fiery address, an angry Agnew said he would not resign if indicted, that he was being framed by persons in Maryland because he would not stop investigations against them, and that someone high in the Justice Department was out to get him to make up for bungling the Watergate investigation.

Afterward, Agnew is said to have told the California party leaders there would remain "lingering doubts" in the minds of many people even if his name is cleared. He said that he does expect to be cleared of allegations of wrongdoing.

Agnew's pessimism was not shared by the convention delegates, and it was said that the California GOP leaders also believe his future is not ruined.

It remained to be seen whether Agnew's view of the future would be changed by the tumultuous outpouring of support he received after Saturday's address, in which he again declared his innocence.

A federal grand jury in Baltimore is looking into alleged kickbacks to politicians by contractors in Maryland, where Agnew was formerly a county executive and governor.

In another development, Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel announced today the creation of an 11-member task force to study the state's long-standing practice of awarding engineering and architectural consultants' contracts without competitive bidding.

It is allegations that contractors made kickbacks to return for those contracts that led to the grand jury's indictment of Dale Anderson, the current Baltimore County executive. Presentation to the grand jury of allegations against Agnew began last week, although Agnew's attorneys have filed motions to stop the probe.

In his Saturday speech, the vice president said the allegations against him were a frameup by persons seeking revenge because he refused to use his office to halt the federal inquiry into the activities of others in Maryland.

Some "small and fearful men" giving evidence against him have perjured themselves, Agnew asserted. He said he had never violated his public trust in any office.

Agnew also renewed more sharply than ever his charge that senior officials in the Justice Department were trying to destroy him politically to salvage reputations soiled by failure in Watergate and other criminal proceedings.

In a statement after the speech, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson said he would "remain committed to the standards of conduct and fairness which Americans have long cherished and which our legal system is intended to protect."

Meanwhile, Newsweek magazine reported Sunday that a team of Nixon's own lawyers tried to work out a deal between the Justice Department and Agnew's lawyers.

Watergate developments switch to the courts as hearings are postponed until Wednesday. Story on Page 16.

Newsweek quoted a Justice Department official as saying that the Nixon team, headed by J. Fred Buzhardt, was seeking a deal starting from the department's "bottom-line requirement" that Agnew resign and plead guilty to a charge for which he could get at least nine months in jail.

Newsweek described Buzhardt's role as "essentially that of a go-between hoping to budge both parties from fixed positions."

A Justice Department spokesman declined comment on the Newsweek report. The White House, which last week said the presence of Nixon's lawyers at the meetings was purely "informational," also did not comment on the story.

In his remarks to the GOP leaders, Agnew denied that he and his lawyers had ever initiated plea bargaining. Although he did not deny that such meetings took place, he said a bargain such as has been reported never was under serious consideration.

Meanwhile, Maryland's governor today named a task force to study the awarding of some state contracts without competitive bidding—the practice which is at the root of the investigation of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

A statement from Gov. Marvin Mandel's office said the task force would review Maryland's long-standing method of awarding engineering and architectural consultant contracts.

The 11-member panel is to propose legislation to correct any abuses by Dec. 1. The action comes during a widening federal probe of allegations that kickbacks and bribes influenced the distribution of state and local government contracts.

A federal grand jury in Baltimore now is hearing evidence about Agnew's alleged relations with architects and engineers when he was county executive in Baltimore and governor of Maryland.

Gasoline Prices Could Skyrocket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gasoline that now costs 40 cents a gallon will cost between 44 and 48 cents within the coming year, predicts President Nixon's energy advisor.

But John A. Love said Sunday, "As painful as it may be, I don't think it will be necessarily a bad thing."

He said he thought all gasoline price controls would be lifted soon, resulting in a 10 to 15 per cent increase at the pumps, explaining that the higher prices would both stimulate development of more supplies and keep people from driving as much.

"We're going to have to find ways to cut back on our use of gasoline," Love said. "I don't think we have near the sense of urgency as yet that we do need to have."

He appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Love predicted the nation's energy supply would remain static for at least three to five years, and urged consumers to curtail their demand.

The former Colorado governor told homeowners to "keep that thermostat set a little lower this winter," and promised that the administration will "do what we can to as fairly as possible distribute" fuel if Nixon approves a proposed mandatory allocation plan now on his desk.

The fuel shortage, he said, "is not just the result of a temporary situation that will go away soon. Our demand has outstripped our ability to produce domestically."

The winter necessities of adequate foreign imports, full capacity operation of refineries and mild temperatures are "potentially not going to fit together," he warned.

Gasoline price increases, on top of the 1½ to 2 cent a gallon increase approved Friday by the Cost of Living Council, would be caused by both increasing demand and higher prices charged by oil-producing nations, Love predicted.

In other action, independent service station operators from across the country met in Las Vegas, Nev., Sunday to plan a coast-to-coast shutdown, the next move in their campaign against the Phase IV limits on the price of gasoline.

"It looks like there will be a nationwide lockup starting next Friday," said an executive of the California Retail Association. He estimated that some 200,000 stations would be closed.

A four-day shutdown of St. Louis area service stations ends officially today, with most observers calling it a failure. The dealers began opening for business again on Saturday, after the Cost of Living Council moved Friday to permit raising retail gasoline prices by one to 2.5 cents a gallon.

In Fresno, Calif., however, a spokesman for the Petroleum Retailers of Central California said an estimated 90 per cent of the group's 350 service stations were closed Sunday, not to open again until Tuesday.

The gas dealers want to be able to pass on every increase in wholesale costs to the consumer without having to win government approval.

Two Upstate Policemen Shot

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—A search resumed today for a man suspected of shooting two police officers after a gun theft from a sporting goods store.

State Police Zone Sgt. Paul A. Richter, 37, of Tupper Lake, was reported to be partially paralyzed after surgery at a Plattsburgh hospital. He was listed in critical condition.

Saranac Lake Patrolman Douglas Duquette, 27, was reported in fair condition after surgery for a stomach wound. He was in Saranac Lake General Hospital.

Richter was wounded on the right side of the neck and suffered compressed vertebrae in his neck, a hospital official said. She said it was not known if the paralysis of his legs would be permanent.

The man wanted in the case was identified as Paul St. John, 54, of Saranac Lake.

The shootings occurred when the police officers stopped a car to question two men about the theft of several rifles from the Blue Line Sports Shop in Saranac Lake.

Troopers said the officers were shot before the two men drove off. A 15-mile chase ensued before the auto was abandoned in Keene.

Duquette and Richter were in an unmarked police car, troopers said. The shots were heard by troopers in a marked car parked nearby, they said.

Lyle Curry Sr., 36, was arrested near the car. He was arraigned on a charge of second degree burglary before Harrietstown Town Justice Karl Griebisch who set bail at $50,000. Curry was remanded to the Franklin County jail in Malone.

Several rifles were recovered from the abandoned auto, troopers said. Bloodhounds were used in the search. A helicopter was brought in at dawn Sunday and remained on duty until dusk.

The shootings occurred about 3 a.m. Sunday, shortly after the burglary.

Richter, a veteran of 11½ years of State Police work, also received a wound in his upper right arm.

All three wounds were said to have come from a .22 caliber weapon, troopers said.

Several Hurt in Other Mishaps

Accident Fatal to Area Man

WEST HURLEY Phelan was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

A young Shokan man was killed over the weekend when his car struck a tree stump off Route 28, and a Bronx man is in critical condition at Benedictine Hospital following a Sunday morning Saugerties accident.

Joseph Phelan, 19, of Box 29, Shokan, was pronounced dead upon arrival at Kingston Hospital. Police said his car was traveling southbound on Wall Street at "an apparent high rate of speed" and failed to stop at the intersection with Route 28 late Saturday night.

It then continued across the highway, ran off the south shoulder of the road, hit a tree stump, and came to rest in a wooded area.

Police from the Hurley station investigated the accident and dictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service.

Borsellino was charged by police with failure to keep right. He and Dodig were both treated for injuries.

A three-car pileup a half mile south of the Kingston exit of the New York State Thruway Sunday evening resulted in injuries to two occupants of the middle car.

State police said that a car driven by John Bogier of Brooklyn stopped in the driving lane, and was struck in the rear by another auto, driven by Shirley Vadala of Flanders, N.J.

Her car in turn was hit in the rear by another, driven by Philip McCann of Stamford, Conn.

Kimberly Vadala, 15, was described by Benedictine Hospital staff as being in "fair" condition Monday and her sister Kelly, 12, was also treated at the hospital after transportation from the site of the accident by Doctor's Ambulance.

Police said both suffered whiplash injuries. There were no summonses issued to drivers.

In New Paltz, town police investigated a midnight Saturday one-car accident on Route 299 near College Lanes.

Carl Relyea, 18, of 29 Reservoir Road, Highland, apparently lost control of his car and plunged down an embankment, breaking his jaw. He is listed as "satisfactory" in Kingston Hospital.

And Steven Romans, 20, of RD 1, Gardiner, was treated for injuries early Sunday after his car hit a stonewall one mile south of New Paltz on Route 208. Both Romans and Relyea were transported to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance.

$15,468 OK'd for Broadway Parking Lots

KINGSTON ably, eliminating subterranean drainage in the three parking lots and also eliminating new sidewalks and curbing and guard rails.

The Board of Public Works, meeting in special session Sept. 26, approved the expenditure of $15,468 for the paving of three parking lots in Central Broadway. The Freeman learned today.

The BPW, headed by Mayor Francis R. Koenig, in an effort to keep the job within the $20,000 approved by the Common Council, reduced its scope consider-

The three parking lots are located at 349-355 Broadway with Stalag bidding $13,315 on the original contract; 618 Broadway with Stalag bidding $9,240 originally and 656-658 Broadway with Stalag again the low bidder for the entire job at $12,804. Bids were also received from I and O.A. Slutsky of Hunter and Gregory Brothers Inc. of Abel Street.

Following bid openings which showed the bids well over the budgeted amount, the BPW had three choices: do the complete job on two of the three parking lots, seek additional funds from the Common Council or reduce the scope of the work. According to BPW officials, in-to meet budgetary allowances, the possibility of carrying out as originally provided for in the entire job, and calling the Common Council back into session for additional funding was given serious consideration by Mayor Koenig but was ruled out after it was determined that at least some of the work could be carried out without additional funds.

The parking lots will provide street, sidewalk and curb work parking for about 50 cars. Pre-

Aldermen to Hear Library Plans

KINGSTON Mrs. Rita Jackaway, president of the Kingston Area Library Board of Directors, has been granted permission to address the Common Council when it meets in regular session Tuesday night, topping what appears to be an extremely light pre-election agenda for the aldermen.

Mrs. Jackaway is expected to detail developments between the city and the library since last May when the library requested $120,000 in revenue sharing funds to relocate from its 399 Broadway buildings.

During the summer, two sites were surveyed by the Common Council's Finance, Ways and Means Committee, chaired by Alderman John E. Finch (D-Fifth Ward), a vacant bowling alley on Cornell and a vacant (former) supermarket at 61 Albany Avenue.

After several meetings and a good deal of discussion it was decided by the majority of the Common Council that the library should say where it is, moving instead to renovate and expand its facilities rather than relocating. Mayor Francis R. Koenig eventually came out for that position, although no one in city government has made a commitment on funding for whatever renovations and/or expansion plans the library has in mind.

Also on the agenda for the last regular meeting before Election Day are a number of requests involving city streets.

Alderman Thomas M. Davitt (R-Seventh Ward) and Peter J. Mancuso (D-12th Ward) are offering a resolution to designate an unnamed street between Cornell Street and Thomas Joseph R. McGrane (D-Second Ward) has a similar resolution, asking that Grandview Extension be re-named Lounsbury Place.

For Period Ending 7 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Vassar Hosts Journalists on Viet

POUGHKEEPSIE The authors of two best selling works on the American role in the Vietnam War will speak at Vassar College Oct. 4.

The writers, Frances FitzGerald and David Halberstam, will be questioned by a panel of students after their addresses. The 8:30 p.m. event will be held in the chapel and will be open to the public.

The program entitled "Vietnam Retrospect: What Lessons for Journalism?" will be sponsored by the Poynter Committee of the Changing American Culture. The Poynter Fellowship program, designed to bring prominent journalists to the campus, was established last year by a gift to Vassar from Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Poynter.

He is chairman of the board of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times and Evening Independent; he holds the same position with Congressional Quarterly, Inc. Miss Fitzgerald is author of "Fire in the Lake," a book that brought together her first hand observations in Vietnam and her studies of Vietnamese politics, history and sociology. Portions of the book appeared in five issues of The New Yorker magazine in 1972, and the book was published in Aug., 1972 by Little, Brown and Co., in association with the Atlantic Monthly Press.

The author was a feature writer for the New York Herald Tribune Sunday Magazine from 1964-65 and spent ten months in Vietnam in 1966, writing articles for The Atlantic, The New York Times Sunday Magazine, the Village Voice and Vogue.

Halberstam joined the Times after four years as reporter on the Nashville Tennessean. As foreign correspondent for the Times he reported from Leopoldville, Saigon and Warsaw. After six years with that newspaper he resigned to become a contributing editor at Harper's magazine, a position he has since left.

"The Best and the Brightest," his book on the origins of American involvement in Vietnam, was published by Random House in Dec., 1972. The book concentrates on the men (the best and the brightest) who served Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and on the domestic assessments of the stability and popularity of the Diem regime day to day decisions on the war.

Dangers of Detente

"The current dialogue between the great powers, is it a dialogue on how to divide the world into spheres of influence?" the 135 members of the United Nations were asked in an address by Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan. He had just ended a three-day official visit to President Nixon in Washington, where he was told that his country's territorial integrity was a guiding principle of our foreign policy, but was given no assurance of United States support to secure it.

Pakistan had been dismembered by the revolt of East Pakistan, which was directly supported by India with indirect Soviet Union support. Pakistan had indirect support of China and the United States, but no direct support. East Pakistan emerged from the war of 1971 as the independent nation of Bangladesh.

Bhutto, who took over the reins of government in Pakistan from a post as his country's representative to the United Nations, was on familiar ground when he addressed the General Assembly. While warning about what he saw as the dangers of detente — a reference to the improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union and the United States and China — the Pakistani leader won the great majority with his declaration.

"The entire world would be reassured by a demonstration that the dialogue is free from Machiavellian elements," he said, "that it is not corroded by machinations and jostlings for advantage over smaller powers, that it will not condone interference in the normal affairs of state, that it will not permit subversion and conspiracies to overthrow governments and that it will not promote an international order not based on justice."

Bhutto's parting shot revealed his greatest fear. He said, "We trust that two or more superpowers will not combine to impose a super hegemony over the world." That is a fear that critics of the Nixon approach to the Soviet Union and China have expressed, not only in this country, but in Europe, where the Common Market is getting increasingly mistrustful of the detente fearing that it may be at their expense. But Henry Kissinger has been very frank in assuring all that these "approaches" are only to defuse aggressive tendencies and situations.

Worst Driving Time

The worst time for fatal automobile accidents is in the early hours of a Sunday morning, though most motor vehicle accidents take place on Fridays, between 4 and 5 P.M. The safest day to drive is Tuesday, between 5 and 6 A.M.

These top statistics are taken from the traffic safety analysis of the 7.5 million registered vehicles that traveled 75 billion miles last year with a total of 403,411 accidents, 3,238 deaths, 338,557 personal injuries, and 179,741 property damage cases.

The statistics were reported by the Department of Motor Vehicles of New York State but there were for so many cars and miles traveled that they may be adapted, with local modifications, for other states.

In the last 20 years, the accident rate per 10,000 population increased 75 percent. Over the last five years, the rate remained relatively stable. The important thing is how safe you are as a person. People have a better chance of getting killed or being injured in motor accidents than they did 20 years ago.

The worst time for accidents is proof that drinking is a mounting cause of traffic deaths. Friday between 4 and 5 P.M. is a time when people let down after a week's work, imbibe on their way home, or at a friend's and drive off too often to certain death. Similarly, the largest number of fatal accidents, Sunday morning, is a going home time.

The figures showed a decline in deaths and injuries per 100 million miles. But that is deceptive, because of the relatively lower accident rate on interstate and expressways where large mileages are recorded.

There is the practice of a man who stays sober at parties to drive the gang home. It should be expanded, especially Fridays and Sundays. The time to let down is not the time to drink and drive and stay alive.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Nixon campaign committee recruited a taxicab driver in 1971, turned him into a $1,000-a-month spy and planted him inside Sen. Ed Muskie's campaign headquarters.

The driver, Elmer Wyatt, sneaked memos, schedules, brochures and other material out of Muskie's offices and delivered them to Nixon campaign aides.

The spying operation against Muskie, according to Watergate sources, was conceived by President Nixon's deputy campaign chief Jeb Magruder. He later helped run the "Gemstone" operation, which wound up with the Watergate break-in.

In September, 1971, our sources say, Magruder approached another campaign aide, Kenneth Rietz, and asked him whether he had ever placed a spy in a political opponent's camp. MAGRUDER PERSISTS

Although Rietz had engineered the rough-and-tumble victory of Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., over incumbent Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., he replied to Magruder's question with an astonished "No!"

Magruder persisted, and Rietz agreed to look for an undercoverman. He sounded out an ex-FBI agent named John "Fat Jack" Buckley, who had once worked across the hall from him.

In those days, Rietz had been an eager young assistant to Rep. William Steiger, R-

Wis., and Buckley had been the chief Republican investigator for the House Labor Committee.

The aristocratic Rietz and the paunchy gumshoe hit it off well and remained in touch. Buckley, though on civil service status with the anti-poverty agency, obligingly recruited Wyatt, a taxi-driving acquaintance, for $500 a month.

"WILLING VOLUNTEER"
Muskie aides remember the cabbie as a willing volunteer who made the dreary 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. mail runs between Muskie's campaign headquarters and his Senate office.

But unknown to the Muskie camp, their cheerful mailman was snapping up documents which he delivered to Buckley. The anti-poverty official then rushed the material to Magruder and, on one occasion, to another Nixon aide, Hugh Porter.

When Rietz was assigned to other duties, the hacker-spy was given two new bosses, U. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, who later plotted the Watergate caper. The Nixon forces, meanwhile, were so delighted with Wyatt's espionage that they doubled his salary.

The documents that Wyatt swiped from Muskie headquarters wound up in the hands of Nixon tacticians who used them to undercut Muskie. This may have been one reason Muskie, who had led the pack of Democratic presidential prospects, began to slip in the popularity polls. The Muskie spying was dropped in the Spring of 1972 after Muskie's star faded.

FOOTNOTE: Republican sources, while confirming that Rietz has admitted his role to Watergate investigators in both the Senate and Justice Department, emphasize that he gave strict orders against opening mail or violating other federal laws. Neither Rietz nor Buckley could be reached for comment. My associate Les Whitten located Wyatt who confirmed Buckley had recruited him to procure the Muskie documents but swore he avoided any criminal acts.

AGNEW'S ANGUISH: In his historic appeal to the House to judge his alleged crimes, Vice President Spiro Agnew told Speaker Carl Albert bluntly that he wanted the impeachment hearings to be wide open.

Agnew said he was prepared to look the TV cameras in the eye, if the House wanted to permit the networks to televise the hearings, and give sworn testimony about his conduct.

Sources privy to the secret Agnew-Albert talks say the Vice President was bitter over the Justice Department's handling of the criminal charges against him. He told Albert that he would rather be judged by his political peers than endure the "trial by leak" now going on.

The Agnew who on August 6 told of his "confidence in the criminal justice system of the United States" has completely changed his attitude. He complained to Albert about the "selective information" that is fed to a grand jury and leaked out to the press.

He wanted to assert his constitutional prerogatives not to hide the facts but to bring them out into the open. Agnew argued. He found Albert compassionate but noncommittal. At one point, Albert spoke sympathetically about the strain on the Vice President's family.

After their private session, Albert brought in leaders from both parties to hear Agnew's appeal. The Vice President suggested that a select committee should be established to conduct the impeachment hearings. He said the Judiciary Committee, which normally would hear impeachment charges, is too large and unwieldy.

FOOTNOTE: Sources close to Agnew point out that he is the son of a Greek immigrant and that the Republican aristocrats may be seeking to purge him. They note that U.S. Attorney George Beall, who is conducting the Agnew investigation, is a Baltimore Brahmin and that Attorney General Elliot Richardson, who gave the go-ahead, is a Boston Brahmin. But Agnew, in private conversations with friends, rejected this theory. He had no evidence, he said, of ethnic or social snobbery.

No Energy Policy Yet

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Just as the Sept. 8 cabinet meeting on threatened heating oil shortages this winter was starting, former Colorado Gov. John Love, President Nixon's energy czar, urgently whispered with Interior Secretary Rogers Morton.

Would Morton support or oppose mandatory allocations of heating oil if the President brought up the subject at the cabinet meeting, Love asked.

Morton and Love quickly agreed that, if that political hot potato was tossed up, they would support allocations.

Quickly, however, it became apparent that Mr. Nixon himself was politically and emotionally against mandatory allocations (designed to guarantee a fair level of supplies to potentially oil-short areas like New England and the Upper Midwest).

The ice was first broken by Russell Train, newly sworn in Environmental Protection administrator. Train said that if, as the White House wants, states are asked to provide temporary "variances" from clean air laws, then the administration should ask Congress for mandatory allocations to spread the shortages fairly.

Mr. Nixon listened, saying nothing, then turned to Deputy Secretary of the Treasury William Simon.

"You don't agree with that, do you, Bill?" the President asked.

"Yes, sir," replied the forthright Simon, backing Train to the hilt. Mr. Nixon then turned to Morton. Without hesitation, Morton said:

"I agree with Bill Simon 100 per cent."

But energy czar Love apparently was getting the drift of the President's own strong antipathy to allocations. When Mr. Nixon finally turned to him, Love hedged. Maybe yes, he said, but then again, maybe no. Three times the President asked Love and three times Love, a newcomer to the political thickets of Washington, equivocated.

That was Sept. 8. Shortly thereafter, the White House, with Love now leading the way, came close to outright support for allocations. But Simon's boss, Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, and other freedom-of-marketplace ideologues such as top White House aide Bryce Harlow, have reversed that trend. There is now open talk of a possible veto if Congress goes ahead on its own and sends a mandatory allocations bill to the President.

Through all this, three hard facts are emerging and they were deeply impressed on the seven governors who attended an energy meeting at the White House: there is no energy policy as yet; there is no hard information on shortages; there are no real contingency plans.

If Mr. Nixon doesn't soon fill that policy and information vacuum and the coming winter turns out long and cold, he will open up a political Pandora's box which for voter fury could make the Watergate scandals a summer picnic.

Laird Tells Shultz
Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz's angry cry from Tokyo that Melvin R. Laird better keep his "cotton picking" hands off economic policy was privately rejected by Laird in Washington last week.

"I was making economic policy long before you were even in government," veteran politician Laird, now White House domestic policy chief, told former Prof. Shultz here after his return from Japan. As a Wisconsin legislator 26 years ago, Laird continued, he conducted a study on state tax laws and has been involved in tax policy ever since. What's more, he said, he would keep talking taxes long after he leaves the White House (less than a year from now, he forecasts) and, in the meantime, will discuss all other aspects of government policy — economics included.

Laird also defended his Sept. 15 press conference boosting proposals for temporary tax increases by Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns. Laird told Shultz not to reject out of hand Dr. Burns' idea of using variable taxes to combat inflation.

Finally, Laird stressed that he knows no tax legislation will pass Congress this year but wanted Burns' proposals ventilated. He remembered pushing revenue-sharing some 15 years before the program was adopted by Congress.

A footnote: Attempting to ease tension after Shultz's attack on Laird in Tokyo, Deputy Treasury Secretary William Simon sent Laird a pair of white cotton gloves. But Laird jokes that he probably needs neither white gloves nor black gloves. He needs kid gloves when talking policy — to soften the impact on Shultz and other officials of his laudable attempt to achieve open government.

Harken to Those Good Old Days

In Grandma's and Grandpa's day...

There were trolley cars. And seven-passenger jitneys. Girls rode their stockings below the knee. Underwear was called step-ins. Boys with heavy shoes and wide trousers were finale hoppers. Other boys with bell-bottom pants and double-breasted vests were sharpies.

The favorite dances were at fraternity houses. The steps were the Charleston and Black Bottom. A good provider earned $40 a week. Night movies cost 22 cents. They were silent; down front a pianist played menace music.

Daring girls began to bob their hair. The boyish look was "in," including flat chests. Men wore B.V.D.s. In 1925, Ford cars were made in colors other than black. Sherwood Anderson wrote "Dark Laughter." Expensive dates were called "Gold diggers." F. Scott Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby" was a failure.

Harold Ross, Ralph Barton, George S. Kaufman and Dorothy Parker invented a sophisticated magazine called "The New Yorker." Bernarr MacFadden devised the yellow journal: "The New York Graphic." Dayton, Tennessee, indicted a teacher named John T. Scopes for teaching evolution.

The hit motion pictures were Karl Dane and John Gilbert in "The Big Parade"; Rudolph Valentino in "The Eagle"; Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman"; and a dog named Rin-Tin-Tin in anything. Charles Chaplin completed his longest comedy, "The Gold Rush" — 9,000 feet of celluloid, or, put another way, 3,947,629 mandolin picks.

G. E. built an icebox without ice. It worked on electricity and sulphur dioxide and cost $550. John Hertz decided to rent cars to strangers at 17 cents a mile. The favorite remedy for boils was Fels-Naptha soap and sugar, done in a poultice. General Motors was listed as worth $458,222,000.

Florida had a get-rich-quick land boom. The luxury liners included the Leviathan, Berengaria, Olympic, Aquitania, Mauretania and Ile de France. A mechanic named Walter Chrysler boosted production of Buicks from 40 a day to 560. C. Francis Jenkins demonstrated a boxed tube to Navy Secretary Wilbur. It showed a windmill turning — a moving picture of something happening miles away. "I suppose," Wilbur said, "we'll sit at our desks in the next war and watch the battle in progress."

Lt. James Doolittle flew a seaplane near Baltimore at 232.573 m.p.h., a new world record. Rear Admiral William Moffett sped the big rigid dirigible between Lakehurst, N.J., and Bermuda at 60 m.p.h. George Gershwin, 27, of Brooklyn, began to cash checks from his composition "Rhapsody in Blue." Since the death of Enrico Caruso, tenors Beniamino Gigli and Giovanni Martinelli competed at the Metropolitan Opera House for his roles.

The Broadway hits were Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer"; Marilyn Miller in "Sunny"; Walter Hampden in "Hamlet"; Beatrice Lillie and Gertrude Lawrence in "The Charlot Revue"; Helen Gahagan in "The Enchanted April"; W. C. Fields and Will Rogers in "The Ziegfeld Follies."

The best read columnists were Henry L. Mencken; F. P. A.; Karl Kitchen; Heywood Brown; John P. Medbury; O. O. McIntyre and Bugs Baer. Red Grange, playing for Illinois against U. of Pennsylvania, ran for three touchdowns, carried the ball 36 times for a total of 363 yards. Noel Coward was 25.

Tennis champs were William Tilden and Helen Wills. Harry Greb, middleweight, beat Mickey Walker's face to tomato pulp. At age 26, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals batted better than .400. Seven years after Britain promised Jews a homeland, the Earl of Balfour, in Jerusalem, stood atop the Mount of Olives and shook hands with Dr. Chaim Weizmann, and declared the Hebrew University open. It amounted to one short step.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen died at 58. Benito Mussolini was 42. The Italian cabinet had 13 members — Mussolini was five of them. Fascism was six years old. In Poland, 15,000 German families voted to retain German citizenship. The Polish government deported them. In Germany, Paul von Hindenburg was elected president with 48 per cent of the vote. He favored a monarchy.

Prohibition was the law of the land. Rusty ships laden with shiny bottles idled offshore waiting for small swift craft to approach, buy, and race in fog to shore. Cellar booze made with wood alcohol was blinding hundreds. Col. Billy Mitchell was court-martialed.

President Calvin Coolidge, in thrifty mood, ordered a torn American flag on the White House replaced, with the proviso that the torn one would be repaired and used elsewhere. When he turned in a pencil with a dull eraser, the White House stockroom sent him a copy of his memorandum: "No new pencils for anybody."

Garden Clubs' Meeting Slated

The 1973 fall district meeting of the third district Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., has been set for Thursday, Oct. 4, at Bartke's in Ravena, by Mrs. Everett F. Bennet, district director.

Mrs. John Maybee, second assistant director, will be meeting chairman and she has announced the theme as Autumn Harvest.

Registration will be at 9 a.m. and the meeting will be called to order at 10 a.m. A special feature for the day will be six arrangements presented by district exhibitors entitled "Pick Your Favorite." Members attending will vote for their favorite by ballot. The exhibitors include

Mrs. Sten Eric Weidner, Mrs. Richard Lambert, Mrs. Clyde Davers, Mrs. Paul Holmberg, Mrs. E. John Alexander and Mrs. Lawrence Hesel. The exhibitors have been asked to name the National Council award they believe would be suitable for their arrangement.

Albany, Greene, Schoharie and Rensselaer counties are the hostess counties. Albany County under the direction of the county chairman, Mrs. Howard Bishop, is in charge of reservations and hospitality. Mrs. D. K. Ormsbee, county chairman for Greene and Schoharie Counties, will be in charge of registration. Rensselaer County chairman, Mrs. Wilson Graham, with the aid of county clubs, will provide the table centerpiece. Schoharie County chairman, Mrs. Richard Ainsworth, is in charge of ways and means and has requested all Schoharie County clubs to contribute items for sale or for baked goods.

All the above county chairmen as well as Mrs. James Torpy, Dutchess County, and Mrs. George Scherrer, Ulster County, will give reports on the activities of the garden clubs in their counties for the past year.

Mrs. Weidner, district yearbook chairman, will give citations for first, second, third and Honorable Mention in the 1973 yearbook contest. The yearbooks will be on display. Mrs. Lambert, Junior and High School Gardeners chairman, will announce the winners for the Woody Owl and Smoky the Bear contest.

Club presidents may make a one minute announcement of coming events by submitting the club name, the announcer and the date of the event in advance to Mrs. Everett Bennet, Staatsburg.

Luncheon reservations are being handled by Mrs. Daniel Duffy, R.D., West Coxsackie.

The afternoon program will start at 1:30 p.m. Paul Jeffers, noted Bonsai lecturer, will show the "how" of Bonsai. Members may attend for a half day.

Prisoners' Festival Held Recently at Napanoch

By DOROTHY A NAREL

Approximately 400 prisoners, staff members and invited guests attended a Black Cultural Festival on Saturday, Sept. 15 at the prison in Napanoch. It took place in the North Yard of the Eastern Correctional Facility (as it is properly referred to) and the six-hour program was complete with music, guest speakers, entertainers, art and leather exhibits and buffet lunch.

The fall festival, first of its kind of black prisoners at Napanoch, I was told, was planned by a committee of prisoners and staff with Carroll Jackson, director of music education at the facility, as coordinator.

In a covering release to the Freeman Woman's Department, newly appointed Public Relations Officer Nancy D. Looi referred to the afternoon as "a rare and warm occasion. Undoubtedly, it was a unique arrangement to have participating inmates sitting down at outdoor picnic tables, sharing a hearty luncheon menu with a few select guests, and visiting relatives."

One of the main speakers was Bakari, Associate Dean of Liberal Arts and Sciences at State University College at New Paltz, who traced black culture to Africa. Also on the speakers' podium were David Joseph, director of the Sullivan County Community Action Program; William A. Green, director of Orange County's Post Prison Adjustment Program; and James Murray, who represented the NYU Institute of Afro-American Affairs. Mr. Murray is also editor of "black Creation," an international monthly magazine published by the institute, a cultural affairs reporter for the Amsterdam News and the first black member of the New York Film Critics' Society.

The afternoon was alive with the musical sounds of today but it took an elderly woman to bring the prisoners to their feet in a standing ovation. She was Marsha P. Anderson, senior poet laureate of the Alma John Talent Workshop from New York City. It was this tiny woman's dramatic interpretation of "Mother Africa" that received a tremendous response.

Equally inspiring was Mrs. Ethel Greene, another Workshop senior poet laureate.

Inmates opened the program themselves with musical selections under the direction of Mr. Jackson. Their improvised stage consisted of two flatbed trailers.

Later in the afternoon, a two-hour variety show was given by the Alma John Talent Workshop of New York. It featured approximately 45 performers in musical groups, a fashion show of Afro-creations and a blind vocalist, Raymond Toomer singing, "I Want to Walk With Jesus." One musical group featured young boys under the age of 12. They gave enthusiastic renditions of "Shaft" and "Superfly." Singer, "Little Butch," of the rock group Sammy Gordon and the Hip Huggers, completed the program with a few favorite songs.

A great deal of hard work went into the formation of this first Black Cultural Festival. In recognition of his efforts, Carroll Jackson was presented with a Harlem Hall of Fame "Eubie Blake" Award. Mr. Blake, a 90-year-old black pianist, telephoned Mr. Jackson later in the day to offer his congratulations.

It was an interesting afternoon. Some of the artwork was truly outstanding and a good many of the prisoners had a great deal of musical talent.

One guard told me similar festivals had been held on separate occasions for the white and Puerto Rican inmates.

Doctor's Wife's Misery Has Lots of Company

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A doctor's wife said: "The shoemaker's kids always go barefoot." I know what she means.

All my friends envy me because my husband is a hairdresser. They don't know that he hasn't touched my head in years. I have to shampoo and set it myself. He promised to give me a cut and perm last year. I even went to his shop for it, but something went wrong with a color job he had done on one of his prize customers, and he never got to me! I finally got so disgusted I went to the neighborhood shop and paid somebody else to do it.

People are always telling me how nice my hair looks. And then they add: "But why shouldn't it — you're married to a hairdresser." Ha, ha, and ha!

ROLLS MY OWN

DEAR ABBY: When the doctor's wife complained to her husband about not feeling well, he told her to take two aspirin and go to bed!

Are you ready for this? My husband is an electrician and I have a toaster that's in pieces. (He took it apart two months ago, but he hasn't had time to put it together yet.) Last Christmas he promised to fix my hair dryer, but he hasn't gotten around to it yet. And, I've been trying to get him to put some flood-lights around our house for two years, and all he's done so far is get the lights, but they're still in their original boxes.

I give up!

ELECTRICIAN'S WIFE WITHOUT

Dear Abby: I'm a plumber's wife. Without delving into details, I found myself desperately in need of a plumber! I phoned my husband at his shop, and he said he was tied up all day, one of his men was out sick, and the other one was on vacation.

Know what I did? I called another plumber. And in case you don't know it, a plumber gets paid more for a housecall than a doctor.

PLUMB OUT OF LUCK

DEAR ABBY: I laughed (with tears in my eyes) when I read about the doctor's wife who couldn't get her husband's ear long enough to tell him what was wrong with her.

My wife is a masseuse, and a darned good one. In fact, she's trained in physical therapy, but every time I ask her to give me a rub, she tells me she's tired.

NO RUBS IN ROCHESTER

DEAR ABBY: Tell the doctor's wife she has company. My husband is a professional photographer. He photographed our first child when she was one hour old. And he took thousands of pictures of that little girl until she was about 4.

Our second baby came along and my husband didn't go quite as crazy with his camera over No. 2, but we do have some pictures of him. No. 3 was lucky to get her picture taken on her fifth birthday.

Now I have to start nagging him in July to get a family picture for our Christmas cards.

DEAR ABBY: "The shoemaker's children always go barefoot," applied to me, too. Only my husband is a grocer. I had to plead for groceries, which we, as the owners of the store, may take home at wholesale prices. But believe it or not, our cupboards were usually bare.

My own children didn't see much of their father because he was always too busy at the store to give them much time.

It took a complete nervous breakdown for me to get the time and attention from my husband I needed for so many years.

Wait Until Next Year—Henry

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron said, "The last month of my career has been really tiresome. I'm just happy to look back on a good year. I hope for the same type of year next year, so it'll be a great winter."

Aaron had moved to the threshold of the legendary Ruth's mark of 714 when he drilled his 40th of the year and 713th lifetime over the center field fence Saturday night off

Robert's before going out on a soft liner to second baseman Tommy Helms in his final at bat of the year, off reliever Don Wilson in the eighth inning.

Aaron, who also had three straight hits in Saturday night's game, thus lifted his season batting average to .301.

As he trotted to left field for the ninth inning, the crowd rose with thunderous applause. The ovation lasted about three minutes, and was still going when the umpires ordered the first pitch of the inning to Houston's Greg Gross.

"The greatest thing that happened to me today was getting that ovation," Aaron said. "I'm just sorry I wasn't able to hit a home run."

Aaron said he was determined to hit No. 714, that he had no intention of collecting those singles. "But I got only one good pitch all day and it fooled me. I was looking for a change-up from Roberts in the first inning and he threw me a fast ball right down the middle."

Asked about the pressure, the soft-spoken Alabama native said, "There was not as much today as yesterday (Saturday). I felt an awful lot then because I felt like I almost had to hit one to have a chance to tie it today."

Aaron said he hoped to take a long fishing trip later this week, spend a few days with his parents in Mobile, Ala., and then go on to the World Series where he is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

His winter calendar also includes wedding plans—the date not yet announced. He is to marry Billy Williams, a local television personality.

Then, he can think of next year and Babe Ruth.

"I hope I hit it (714) here in Atlanta, but I'll do the best I can regardless of where I play," he said.

Ralph Houk Calls It Quits

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk called it quits with the New York Yankees Sunday but it's a good bet the "Iron Major" will resume his managerial career next season in Detroit.

With the completion of Sunday's season-ending game, the Yankees, who will share Shea Stadium with the Mets for the next two years while their park is renovated, not only lost their home but also their manager when Houk announced his resignation minutes after the Yankees lost to Detroit, 8-5.

"I believe I'm making the right decision," said the 54-year-old Houk, his voice cracking with emotion. "I decided four or five days ago to resign and I'm not considering another managerial job for awhile."

"For awhile" are the key words because it is known the Detroit Tigers would love to have Houk, a much decorated major with the Special Forces Rangers in World War II, as their manager for next season. Houk's resignation came only hours after the Boston Red Sox announced a managerial change for next season with former major league catcher Darrell Johnson named to succeed the fired Eddie Kasko. Kasko will assume the duties of executive scout with the Red Sox.

While Houk, who still had two years to go on his contract, may be headed for Detroit, the naming of his successor as manager of the Yankees could take some time, according to owner George Steinbrenner who admitted: "When Ralph in-took over the managerial reins during the 1966 season, he decided to resign. We were shocked and deeply distressed."

Houk was in his second year as manager of the Yankees and East in 1970.

Mets Need Only One

Jerry Koonsman knew he might need a little extra if the New York Mets were to beat the Chicago Cubs Sunday and clinch at least a tie for the National League's Eastern Division title.

So he reached back to 1959 and fed the Cubs some of the stuff that enabled him to beat the Baltimore Orioles twice in the World Series.

As a result, the Mets went into today's makeup doubleheader with the Cubs needing one victory to clinch the title and the right to meet the Cincinnati Reds in the NL's Championship Series. Two Mets losses combined with a Pittsburgh Pirates win over the San Diego Padres in another makeup game today would create a three-way tie also involving the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

Koonsman's 9-2 victory following a 1-0 loss to the Cubs in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader gave all the initiative to the Mets. Tom Seaver, their ace, was scheduled to pitch the first game with George Stone, 12-3, slated to start the second game.

The Pirates kept their hopes alive for another 24 hours when they whipped the Montreal Expos, 10-2, Sunday while the Cardinals stayed alive with a 3-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves, 5-3, with Hank Aaron finishing the season with a career total of 713 homers and the San Francisco Giants topped the season one homer short of Babe Ruth's career record of 714.

American League scores were Chicago 1, Oakland 0, California 3, Minnesota 0, Detroit 8, New York 5, Boston 3, Milwaukee 2, and Texas 3, Kansas City 0.

The Mets scored three runs in the first inning of the second game with the help of a throwing error by Ron Santo, and Cleon Jones' two-run homer gave them a 5-2 lead in the sixth. Koonsman allowed six hits, walked two, struck out seven and both runs were unearned.

Jim Rooker pitched a nine-inning shutout for the Mets, striking out seven and allowing only one hit, a single by Rick Wise pitched hitless ball over the last four innings to preserve the victory. Lou Brock doubled in the first inning, stole third and scored in the sacrifice fly by Bake McBride and Bernie Carbo doubled in the decisive run for the Cardinals in the fourth.

A crowd of 40,517 in Atlanta saw Aaron hit three singles off Dave Roberts and pop out 713 homers and the San Francisco Giants topped the season one homer short of Babe Ruth's career record of 714.

Palmer Takes Cameron Park

CAMERON PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Little Sandra Palmer blundered the par-73 course with a record six-under 67 Sunday to charge from behind and win the $4,500 first prize in the Cameron Park LPGA classic by two strokes.

She fired seven birdies and finished seven - under - par with 212.

Deadlocked for second at 214 were three-time U.S. Women's Open champion Sue Berning of Crystal Bay, Nev., and Gail Denenberg of Middletown, N.Y., who finished with a 69 despite a double bogey on the easy 11th hole, where she hit a tee shot out of bounds.

All alone in fourth was young Shelly Hamlin, the tour sophomore from Stanford who wound up with a 72 for 215. Leading moneywinner Kathy Whitworth and Debbie Austin of Oneida, N.Y., were tied at 216.

Kathy Ahern of Dallas dropped a hole - in - one on the 121st hole 12th hole when she hit a perfect nine-iron shot. It was her second in competition.

TELETYPE SIGN: Yankee manager Ralph Houk, who announced his resignation Sunday, may have noticed the writing in the stands before walking back to the dugout after talk with his pitcher in game with Tigers. He resigned minutes after Yanks lost to Tigers 8-5. (UPI)

Mercury Breaks Dolphin Record

"If the line has a good day, the back has a good day." With that, Mercury Morris said it all.

The Miami line had a great day...and so did the scrappy little running back for the Dolphins who so often has had to take a back seat to his running mates, Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick.

He scampered for three touchdowns and a team-record 197 yards to lead Miami over the New England Patriots 44-23 Sunday in National Football League play.

"I haven't had those kind of holes since I was in college," said Morris, who shattered the Dolphins' club rushing record, Abner Haynes' 151 yards.

In Sunday's other NFL games, Pittsburgh thrashed Houston 36-7, Los Angeles rocked San Francisco 40-20, Minnesota mauled Green Bay 11-3, Dallas clouted St. Louis 45-10, Cleveland edged the New York Giants 12-10, Buffalo tripped the New York Jets 9-7, Kansas City upset Oakland 16-3, Baltimore beat New Orleans 14-10, Chicago beat Denver 33-14, Cincinnati topped San Diego 20-13 and Washington belted Philadelphia 28-7. Atlanta is at Detroit tonight.

Seven of the games were sold out and televised locally. They drew 431,727 fans and had a total of 32,022 "no-shows" who bought tickets but didn't attend.

Steelers 36, Oilers 7
"We were able to come up with the big plays defensively and it helped to break the game open in the second half," Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said after the Steelers, trailing Houston 7-6 at the half, woke up and ran roughshod over the Oilers the rest of the way to win 36-7.

Rams 40, 49ers 20
"When he throws, he hits big," Coach Dick Nolan of the 49ers said of John Hadl, the former San Diego quarterback who has drastically reduced his "mad bomber" style. He had averaged 26 passes per game with the Chargers but has thrown only 36 in three with the Rams, completing 28 of them, five for touchdowns.

Hadl tossed a 39-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson and relied heavily on the Rams' rushing attack, which piled up 223 yards en route to the 40-20 victory.

Vikings 11, Packers 3
"They just came at us—they poured in on us," said MacArthur Lane, one of the battered Packers. "We made more mistakes, fumbled and turned the ball over. It turned out to be a battle of field goals and we lost." Fred Cox kicked the three field goals for the Vikings, who also managed a safety to beat Green Bay 11-3.

Cowboys 45, Cards 10
"I still don't know how good we are at this point," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, despite the Cowboys' 45-10 mangling of the Cards. "If we could win a couple of tough close ones, then this bunch could really be strong at the end."

Chiefs 16, Raiders 3
"We were beaten today by a good football team," Oakland Coach John Madden said after the Chiefs' 16-3 victory. "I've heard they were going down but that's not true. They're No. 1 now... We were just stopped by a real tough defense."

Colts 14, Saints 10
Lydell Mitchell and Don McCauley each rushed for more than 100 yards in the Colts' 14-10 win over the Saints, prompting rookie Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones to observe: "When you're doing that well, you go with your momentum."

Bears 33, Broncos 14
"We were ready physically, which you have to be against this team," Chicago Coach Abe Gibrone said after the Bears beat Denver 33-14.

Bengals 20, Chargers 13
"I don't mean to sound brash, but we feel like we can run the ball against anybody," Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said after the Bengals' 20-13 victory over the Chargers.

Redskins 28, Eagles 7
"It was a tough decision," said Washington Coach George Allen. "It was a hard one, but I didn't make up my mind until Saturday night. That's when he chose Sonny Jurgensen to start at quarterback in place of Billy Kilmer."

The 39-year-old Jurgensen, making his first start since suffering an Achilles tendon tear last Oct. 29, threw two touchdown passes to wide receiver Charley Taylor in the Redskins' 28-7 victory over the Eagles.

It Was Browns' Turn To Holler 'Deeefense'

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Deeefense," the 76,000 Cleveland Browns fans repeatedly shouted and summed up the story of the Browns' 12-10 National Football League defeat of the New York Giants Sunday.

"The defense did a great job in shutting them off in the second half," Browns' Coach Nick Skorich said. "We were hurt by interceptions and some dropped balls in the first half. A great defense made the difference."

The Giants' defense did its share of work in stopping the Browns, but allowed them to get close enough to the goal posts for Don Cockroft to kick the Browns to victory.

"The Browns' offense was held scoreless in the first half, but Cockroft recorded three-pointers of 11, 27, 30 and 10 yards in the second half for all of his team's points.

"That's (defense) one of the things it takes to make a championship team," Browns' quarterback Mike Phipps said. "They (the defense) played like champions today."

Bob Babich, starting his first game at middle linebacker for the Browns, proved to be a positive addition to the defense. He was acquired two weeks before the season began, from the San Diego Chargers.

"He sparks the defense," said defensive end Bob Briggs. "Babich makes the difference," Babich praised the Browns'.

Reg's Bounce Helps O.J.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Is Woodall lay on the ground, Reggie McKenzie a mind-reader or he is instinctive? Earl Edwards as he released O.J. Simpson thinks it's both. "That Reggie... he's the minutes before Woodall, wozy first guard I've played with and rubber-legged, was assisted who bounces with me," said to the sidelines and then to the Simpson following his 123-yard performance Sunday in the Buffalo Bills' 9-7 victory over the New York Jets in a National Football League game.

"A lot of times, I think he's reading my mind," Simpson added. "He's in front of me, and when I bounce to the outside on a play that's supposed to go to the inside, he bounces with me. It's an instinctive thing, I guess, but it sure helps to have him in front of me."

Simpson now has a total of 476 yards in Buffalo's three games, two of which they have won.

The Bills share first place in the Eastern Conference with Miami, a 44-33 winner over New England.

The Bills shot to a three-point lead on John Leyboldt's first-period 42-yard field goal and added six more points on his 20-yard and second 42-yard three pointers in the final period.

It appeared they would get their first shutout since 1965 but Al Woodall, in at quarterback in place of the injured Joe Namath, and Jerome Barkum had other ideas.

They clicked on a 34-yard touchdown pass with two seconds left, and New York coach Weeb Ewbank turned nearly as green as the Jets' warmup jackets.

The Bills, playing their first home game in the new Rich Stadium, sold 80,020 tickets. Despite the sunny weather and temperatures in the upper 60s, 2,595 fans stayed home, apparently to watch the game on television, aired to the Buffalo area as a sellout.

WONDERFUL WORLD OF FASHION

Highland and Wallkill Narrow UCAL Picture

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON Highland and Wallkill, each looking stronger each week, are now the only two teams left unbeaten in the Ulster County Athletic League. With their impressive victories Saturday, the two have crystallized the UCAL's championship picture.

That's a lot to say with six of the nine games left to play, but consider how the respective third victories came. Highland, which won its first two battles with good defense, suddenly erupted for 35 points. That's a lot of points, and don't cross off Marlboro as a patsy. The Dukes are good enough — especially against bitter rival Highland. A two-fisted Big Blue squad was the last thing the rest of the UCAL wanted to see. Just not being able to score on Highland was bad enough.

The Panther voice too has an added ring of authority about it now. You could claim the win over Red Hook was a season opener fluke, and you could make a point that the 26-0 thumping of Onteora wasn't all that representative either. But you can't dispute the triumph over Pine Bush. The Bushmen are tough. They can score, and their defense ranks with the best.

But the Panthers whipped them. They scored three times and would have had more but for fumbles and a reluctance to try a field goal. Worst news yet for opponents, Felix Feliciano has turned into a real point machine. He has five touchdowns now, and he's just starting to run.

If someone throws a monkey wrench into the works, it will probably come from Ellenville. The Eagles dropped a close one to Highland, but from the way they battered New Paltz that could have been the last loss of the season for the Blue Devils.

Steve Tannenbaum missed his second game, but it didn't matter. Keith Trappell continued to run effectively. Mike Hayden completed some more passes, and the Ellenville defense sparked throughout.

But right now Ellenville is only in third place, tied with Red Hook and Liberty. That's right. The Ganders pulled out their second straight victory and can no longer be considered a breather on anyone's schedule.

Rondout dumped Liberty, 6-0, the same count by which they upended New Paltz. That's not a lot of touchdowns, but no one has been exactly running up points on the Ganders either.

Red Hook's 24-16 win over Onteora only clouded the issue in Boiveville. Does it mean the Indians have finally started to pull themselves together? True it was a loss, but there were finally points on the OCS side of the scoreboard.

Or does it mean the Raiders have not turned out to be what everyone expected? Red Hook blew its opener, then scraped out an unimpressive victory the second week. Now they give up 16 points to a team that was previously scoreless. It will take another week to find out which way these teams are going.

For the rest of Saturday's losers, Marlboro, Pine Bush, New Paltz and Liberty, it was just another dismal week of the season. The Dukes need to get untracked, but they crossed Highland at the wrong time.

The Bushmen and the Huguenots both have to reevaluate their pre-season optimism. Both have lost two straight after opening day victories. As for Liberty, there seems to be only one answer for losing — get used to it.

Missing Plane, Eight Bodies Found

MENA, Ark. (UPI) — The night by one of the more than charred wreckage of a Texas 35 private planes crisscrossing International Turboprop, miss-designated areas. The plane ing since Thursday night with was spotted by its distinctive 11 persons on board, was tail, which features a white star, located Sunday on the side of a densely wooded mountain. Army helicopters dropped eight bodies were found. The plane, which drifted the more than 100 miles off its course during a violent thunderstorm, was found 85 miles north of Texarkana, Ark. It crashed during a 25-minute, 90-mile flight from El Dorado, Ark., to Texarkana. The missing plane was spotted from the air Sunday

The identities of the eight passengers and three victims were not known. Neither was it revealed if the bodies were found inside the plane. The plane crashed in the Ouachita Mountains between Men and the picturesque Queen Wilhelmina State Park near the Oklahoma border. "Some Army officers were there, and they (the passengers) found are all dead," Mena police officer W.G. Warren said. "They have identified the plane, and the Army has got the plane and won't let anybody in there." The plane, Flight 655, carried

24th Anniversary For Communist China

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China celebrated its 24th anniversary today with calls for persistent vigilance against "surprise attack" by the Soviet Union and unity among contending Chinese political factions. David Bruce, chief of the U.S. Liaison Office in Peking, was invited to the National Day banquet, the first ever attended by an American government official. There were no major speeches by any of the leaders.

Union," the editorial made no reference to foreign affairs. This was a sharp contrast to last year, when it dwelt almost entirely on external affairs because of unsettled conditions on the domestic political scene. With a new party congress just completed and a new leadership lineup, the editorial said the main emphasis must be on unity. It stressed the so-called "three dots and three dots" of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung: "Practice Marxism and not revisionism; unite and don't split; be open

Turner Wins One Legal Battle

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Orlando businessman Glenn Turner has won one of a multitude of legal battles surrounding his controversial career. A three-judge U.S. District Court panel sitting in Lakeland reversed on Friday a criminal contempt judgment made against Turner by a circuit judge last October. The opinion said the contempt citation by Circuit Judge William A. Patterson was "a manifest injustice" and said Turner had been found guilty "without a shred of evidence." Patterson sentenced Turner to 150 days in prison after 500 pro-Turner demonstrators converged on the Clearwater courthouse where he was standing trial on 86 counts of alleged security law violation. Turner refused to testify at a special hearing called by Patterson about the demonstration. Patterson had recessed the trial, saying he would not condone the Kosciuszko Interplanetary duct proceedings "in a zoo." Turner had been free on bond appealing the sentence. The October trial ended in a hung jury. Turner then agreed to plead guilty to five lesser charges rather than face another lengthy court session and was fined $2,000. The founder of Glenn Turner Enterprises and its subsidiaries, a cosmetics company, and Dare To Be Great, a motivational firm, is presently standing trial in a federal court in Jacksonville, Fla. He and eight associates, including criminal attorney F. Lee Bailey, are charged with 28 counts of mail fraud and conspiracy. The charges are among legal actions facing Turner or his firms in at least half the 50 states.

Fordham University Gets Back Its Ram

NEW YORK (AP) — Fordham University's ram has returned to his football season home after an unscheduled sojourn to Rockland County in the custody of abductors from rival Manhattan College. With coaxing and a noose provided from a belt, the Manhattan pranksters late Saturday night snatched away the Fordham mascot, on loan from the Bronx Zoo, through a hole in the fence around the university's Ram House. After a stroll down a Bronx street, the ram was carted in a station wagon to Bardonia, N.Y., to be the houseguest of a Manhattan sophomore, 20-year-old Walter Wettje Jr. But when Wettje's father discovered the ram in his backyard Sunday morning, he insisted that his son call Fordham and advise the university of its mascot's whereabouts. Young Wettje said a Fordham official told him that it was nearly a month before the gridiron rivals would confront each other—too long for the ram to stay away from home. The Wettjes escorted the ram back to the Bronx, but Walter Jr. reportedly vowed that the Manhattanites—whose campus actually is in the Bronx, too—would regain possession before the big game. Once the ram was back, a student on duty at Fordham's security office remarked: "About all they got was a look at a first-rate college and a smelly car."

Penn Central To Operate Sans Subsidy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said today the Penn Central railroad can continue operating at least through March without government subsidies. The ICC urged rejection by a Philadelphia bankruptcy court of the Penn Central trustees' plan to liquidate the bankrupt railroad, and said the line could be rebuilt into a usable railroad with substantial federal and state assistance. Because of recent freight rate increases and other additional funds, the Penn Central probably can continue operation without help through the rest of 1973, unless it is hit with a major disaster, the commission said. Penn Central's trustees had said the line would be unable to operate on its own resources beyond next January. U.S. District Judge John P. Fullam has scheduled a hearing for Oct. 12 to determine whether the railroad should be liquidated and sold off to satisfy claims of its many debtors.

KHS Cancels Classes Oct. 3; Exams Slated

Regular classes at Kingston High School will be canceled Wednesday, Oct. 3, in order to allow more than 450 seniors to take the annual Regents Scholarship Examination, Principal Dan H. Allen has announced. The examination, which may enable students to qualify for numerous scholarships to schools in New York State, will be given from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Parents of seniors are requested by school officials to encourage their children to register for the examination in the high school guidance office.

Driver Course In Saugerties

A new three-hour safe driving course will be offered Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Saugerties Senior High School, beginning at 6 p.m. Prospective students may make reservations by calling the district administration office at 246-2828. A $3 fee is charged and all participants must have a valid learner's permit when they report. The three-hour course is now required of all persons before a road test can be taken, school authorities noted.

Ulster Senior Candidate Night

The Town of Ulster Senior Citizens Club will have a Meet the Candidates Night at the regular meeting Wednesday, Oct. 3. The meeting will start 7:30 p.m. with candidates program at 8 p.m. at Bonanza Branch, Bank, Ulster Avenue Mall. The three candidates for town supervisor, incumbent Republican Carmine Savino; Aaron Bahl, Democratic candidate and Robert Stedje, Independent have been invited to attend and address the group. All senior citizens of the town may attend.

City Library Slates Films

The Kingston Area Library will present a film program for children ages 4-12 at the Children's Library Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 3:45 p.m. to 5 p.m. Films in the program include Fox Went Out on a Chilly Night, Little Red Light House, Up for the Cup, and Mole and Hedgehog. Shown that night at 7 p.m. in the Children's Library will be a film for adults, A Taste of Honey, starring Rita Tushingham. All the films are free.

Domestic Spending Bill Faces Presidential Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee takes up the biggest domestic spending bill today with an eventual veto by President Nixon in prospect.

The bill provides funds for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments.

Nixon and Congress have staged a running battle over such legislation since he took office. Nixon has vetoed the bills five times and only been overridden once.

This year the President recommended $31.6 billion for the vetoed $32.8 billion.

The Senate committee, which is expected to act on the bill in a couple of sessions, will increase the figure if past experience is any guide.

Many Democratic senators have said that Nixon's budget included inadequate funds for the health, education and anti-poverty programs.

Attention will be centered on committee actions in Congress this week.

Originally, the legislators hoped the 1973 session would end this month. But now the leaders expect it to run well into November.

In floor action, the Senate planned to pass late today the $21-billion military procurement authorization bill requiring a 110,000-man cut in U.S. troops overseas.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Sunday the reduction is not likely to emerge intact from a conference with the House.

Floor debate also will begin during the day on the foreign economic aid bill authorizing $1.25 billion for the current year.

A mass transit operating subsidy measure is the only major legislation listed for debate this week in the House.

However, the House Ways and Means Committee begins closed-door work today on a Senate-passed bill to reform the private pension system.

On Wednesday, Ways and Means is to send to the House floor a sweeping foreign trade bill. Despite a plea from President Nixon, the panel is not expected to reverse its decision to include a provision denying trade concessions to Russia unless it eases its restrictive emigration policies.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., calls his Government Operations Committee into session today to begin writing a bill designed to give Congress greater control over the budget.

This had wide support early in the session but has become bogged down in controversy.

Watergate Switches to the Courts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With resumption of the Senate hearings on political sabotage delayed until Wednesday, Watergate developments switched to the courts today.

California lawyer Donald H. Segretti, scheduled to testify before the panel on Wednesday, was to enter a plea before a U.S. magistrate here on charges of playing "dirty tricks" on Democratic presidential candidates.

Segretti probably would have to plead guilty to get immunity in order to testify before the committee.

He was reported to have been recruited by President Nixon's former appointments secretary Dwight Chapin to sabotage the 1972 Florida primary campaigns of Democratic Sens.

Edmund Muskie, Hubert Humphrey and Henry Jackson.

Chapin and alleged political spy John R. "Fat Jack" Buckley were to have testified before the committee Tuesday, but were dropped from the roster of witnesses after they said they would invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer questions.

Chief committee counsel Sam Dash said District Court Judge John J. Sirica will grant immunity today to Robert M. Benz, 25, a Florida Young Republican Club member who allegedly worked for Segretti, and to Martin D. Kelley, identified by sources as a Segretti operative.

Sirica was also expected to take affidavits from Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt.

Soviet Bombers in Iraq May Tip Balance of Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has sent supersonic bombers to Iraq for the first time in a move Pentagon officials believe could affect the power balance in the oil-rich Persian Gulf area.

Most Pentagon analysts predict the Russians will turn over a small number of TU22 blinder bombers to the Iraqis, although there is some opinion that the Soviets flew there on an exercise.

The Blinder, which can fly missions at about 1,000 miles an hour, is twice as fast and far more advanced than bombers the Russians previously gave any Arab air force.

Until now, the Soviets have concentrated on fighter planes for the Arabs.

Israelis probably will be worried about this new bomber development, but U.S. authorities appear to be focusing their concern on the Persian Gulf implications because of the energy crisis.

The first indication that the Russians had made the recent move came in a talk by Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements last Friday, during which he stressed the importance of the Persian Gulf's vast oil reserves.

Clements told a small group of civic leaders that the Russians had "put supersonic bombers in Iraq that were never there before."

He did not identify the planes, nor elaborate. Other Pentagon officials supplied details.

Some officials suggested the Russians might be using the bomber move as a go-slow signal to Iran, which is spending billions of dollars on modern arms bought principally from the United States and Britain.

Iran, a long-time U.S. ally, and Iraq, a Soviet client, have been rivals for a long time. That rivalry has taken on new importance in the broader western-Communist maneuvering for influence in the Persian Gulf-Indian Ocean region since Britain pulled out its forces a few years ago.

This would not be the first Russian action that could be interpreted as a warning to Iran.

American intelligence sources have reported at least 20 flights by very fast Soviet MIG25 Foxbat reconnaissance planes over Iranian territory this year.

Ironically, the overflights may have increased Iran's interest in buying even more sophisticated planes, such as the advanced F14 and F15 fighters being developed by the U.S. Navy and Air Force.

And the appearance of supersonic bombers in Iraq may serve to push the Shah of Iran even closer to buying the costly fighters, officials say.
